Boy Scout Leader Drowns While Fishing At Camp Alaflo

Rescuers searching early Sunday morning.

The body of 49-year-old Robert L. Baker was found in a fishing lake on the boy scout reservation Sunday after a massive dragging operation. Baker apparently drowned while fishing along in a small aluminum boat. He lived in Ozark at the time of his death and was active as a Cub Scoutmaster.

The story by scout officials at the scene was that Baker was last seen alive about 4:30 Saturday afternoon when he told O'Neal Strickland, ranger at Camp Alaflo he was going to fish about 45 minutes. Strickland said Baker was standing on the bank at that time but had been in the boat earlier and apparently again fishing the area. Strickland went back at 9:30 Saturday to check the camp and found Baker's car still parked in the parking lot. He then went to the lake, found the boat with all Baker's fishing equipment and his fish still in it and sounded the alarm.

The boat was partially filled with water, one paddle was in the water, a fishing line was still in the lake and a victim was known to enjoy fishing the area. Rescuers from Elba and Daleville joined search shortly after daylight and later units from Geneva, Opp, Andalusia, Florala, Samson, Troy and Dothan became a part of the efforts. Divers from the various towns were preparing to go into the water at noon, but the dragging efforts were successful about 11:45 a.m. Sunday after all rescue units had hooked their boats together and were dragging wide sweeps across the area. Baker's body was found in about 5 feet of water, twenty or thirty feet from where the boat had blown ashore.

Plans were already under way to drain the lake in the fall to clean this from the bottom. The lake was built by the 46th Engineers at Ft. Rucker and they were planning additional work, according to Duff.

officer from Eufaula. Drugging efforts were hampered in the relatively shallow lake by the many tree limbs, etc. on the bottom.

Bethany Residents Object To New County Landfill Site

Reeves Gets

"Would you want your house adjoining a dump?" That was the question posed to the Coffee County Commission at Monday's meeting by a delegation from the Bethany Community.

The delegation was present to voice opposition to the proposed site for the new sanitary landfill.

"The landfill will cause nothing but problems," stated Rev. Harry Rhodes. "It will cause extra traffic, rodents and residents' garbage" will be thrown along the roadside and our property will devalue. We have a nice community and we have to see it destroyed. We have no local police protection to handle traffic and enforce the rules for dumping."

"I think the Commission can find a better place to put a landfill than in an established community," stated Ed Carroll. "Our roads are narrow and the extra traffic will cause a safety hazard to the children and residents. We can get a petition with 200-300 names on it if that's what you want, ask the Commission to reconsider."

"Would you want your house adjoining a dump?" asked Enory McDermott. "Stray dogs and cats will gather at the dump and create a health hazard."

"Our road needs work now," stated Jeff Smith, "and if the landfill is put here the road won't be able to handle the extra traffic. The route is already heavily traveled by the residents in our community and it doesn't need garbage trucks constantly traveling it."

Judge James L. Sawyer told the delegation that although there would be extra traffic it would not cause a pollution problem, and Comm. Rex Boutwell stated the landfill would not cause a devaluation of adjoining property.

The Commission told the delegation if an alternate site could be located and if it was acceptable they would attempt to buy it. The Commission agreed to postpone taking action on choosing a new landfill site until a later date.

Tax Collector Maxwell A. Reeves met with the Commission and stated, "I have enjoyed working with this group over the years. I'd like to admit that the reappraisal program was a headache."

Getting back to business, Reeves reported there were $145,814 in errors in last year's tax records. The errors include both overcharges and undercharges. Reeves added there were $61,610.83 in uncollected taxes that were in litigation, and after hearing a detailed report, the Commission approved the tax records.

Comm. Rex Boutwell offered to rescind his motion which was adopted at the last meeting that declared an emergency situation and skayed the purchase of two dumptrucks. A truck dealer in Enterprise had reportedly threatened to sue over the purchase, so, the motion was withdrawn. Boutwell made a motion, which was adopted unanimously, to invite bids on 2 new trucks.

Probate Judge James L. Sawyer told the Commission he had received a letter concerning Flood Insurance. A meeting was to be held on Wednesday, June 13, at the Farm Center to explain the program to local city and county officials.

Mix Andrews, of the Shiloh Community, was back to address the Commission, and again asked for help with the roads in his small community.

"At times our roads become impassable," stated Andrews, "and we'd like to know where we stand. The road was surveyed some time ago, but no work has been done."

The Commission stated that no funds are available for new paving, but instructed Eng. Leslie Mullins to work the road and provide some temporary help.

Mr. Mullins told the Commission that he learned last week that the county couldn't use state funds to pave the part of Bellwood Road located in the Eprize City Limits. The worst part of the road is in the City Limits, and Mullins reported the road has always been kept up by the county. To resurface the one mile of road would cost $12,700.

The City of Enterprise offered to pay half the expense, and by a vote of 4-2 the Commission approved paving the road. Voting no were Comm. Rex Boutwell and Comm. Gilmer Grant.

In other action at Monday's meeting, the Commission: instructed Comm. Boutwell to get prices for repaving the road at the annex in Elba; received a $6,400 dividend check from the Workmen's Compensation fund; agreed to stop sending residents to the Soil and Conservation Department for pipe, because it placed the agency in competition with private businesses; and, paid bills.

Ten Years

In Shooting

Donald R. (Knothole) Reeves was convicted Monday of 2nd degree murder in the shooting death of Sammie D. Morris. Morris was found dead in a house rented by Reeves. The shooting took place on Monday, March 5.

Reeves reported the shooting to a neighbor, who reported it to authorities. Reeves was arrested at the home of the neighbor and placed in the Coffee County Jail but has been out on bond for some time.

He was sentenced to ten years in the state pen. His lawyer, Tom Hagle of Enterprise, said Tuesday he didn't expect at this time they would be filing an appeal.

Young Girl Burned To Death In House Fire

Three year old Sylvia Odessa Cox, daughter of Mrs. Bobby Moore and the late Ed Cox, died Tuesday morning in a fire that destroyed their mobile home. The family home was located on Highway 11, North of Elba.

Mrs. Odessa Moore, mother of the dead girl, managed to escape the flames with her other five children but was unable to get to the baby, according to bystanders who drove by just as the family came out of the trailer.

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Wilson were the first on the scene and Mrs. Wilson took Mrs. Moore and the children to Hudson's Store where they received first aid and also informed the Elba Fire Department. Mr. Wilson stayed at the scene and attempted to rescue the girl. He said the fire was to intense by this time and he only heard the child cry out once. When Sheriff Brice Paul arrived minutes later, the roof of the trailer was caving in from the fire.

Mrs. Baker and the children were later taken to Elba General Hospital where they received treatment for burns and smoke inhalation.

BRAINSTORMS

With Ferrin Cox

Last week we commented in this space on the peanut loan program. We have heard from several sources that some of our farmer friends are mad with ye ole editor for urging farmers to "back" their peanuts. Well, we went back and read the comments again because that was not our intended comments. We note that we advised farmers to find out all they could before the deadline today (June 14) and do what is best. We still don't know personally what is best and refuse to give anyone a yes or no opinion either way. . . . If that offends someone or makes someone think we are "against them" . . . sorry.

Last Saturday was a day spent driving, having to go to Warner Robins and back in the same day. Not having Hedy along to fuss at my driving, I took the back roads going and other back roads coming back. Counting tractors just suited our three-oh, and just looking at different scenery was just driving through. Several of the small towns impressed me just driving through. One, Fort Valley, was so impressive with the obvious civic pride in the way the town looks that I stopped, bought the local paper and got several names of people to contact. It would be so nice to be able to look back and see what magic they used to get the ball rolling!

John Wayne or "The Duke," was a movie star that truly played the parts the way he believed himself. He had to have been true to his press agents' image of him, or during the past months, when he was fighting a losing battle with cancer, we would have seen a different picture. Being a true fan of "Duke," I don't ever expect to see another actor step forward and fill his shoes - not in my lifetime, anyway.

The cable TV folks are getting nearer to their promise of getting the Atlanta station (Channel 17) into Elba. The big due to pick up the signal is in place, and for a while this week cable users could actually get the station. We expect them to get the bugs out in a day or so, giving more movies and more baseball.

I was impressed Sunday morning with the work of area rescue squads searching for the drowning victim at the scout camp. Never had the various groups worked together in exactly the same situation, but it was all handled smoothly, with each unit falling in with the others as they arrived one at a time.

David Bonner, State Finance Director under Governor Fob James, has not gotten the message after his firing of four from the state Building Commission. Again this week he fired four more, and as the first time, without even notifying the other members of the commission. Politics being what it is, he should have realized after the first round and the lawsuits filed, that he was not the man with absolute authority. . . . or maybe he thinks he is the main man.

Georgia U. S. Senator Herman Talmadge is under fire from the Senate Ethics Committee over handling of campaign funds. We didn't really know what the truth was and still are not sure, but . . .

his wife testifying under oath about hundred-dollar bills totaling $35,000 being kept in overcoat pockets. Now we feel reasonably sure he is guilty.

Legislation In Mill To Help APC

The Municipal Electric Utility Association has proposed legislation to help give some financial relief to the financial strained Alabama Power Company.

House Bill No. 662 and Senate Bill No. 385 would establish the vehicle by which municipalities could, within 6 to 9 months, raise $350,000,000 through the sale of municipal bonds and purchase 10% interest in two Alabama Power Company power plants.

Joint Legislation has been seen to be the nationwide answer to the high costs of generating electricity. Twenty nine States have it now and are lowering of cost through joint ownership is the key to the lowering, or of restraining, electric rates for consumers.

This same legislation in Georgia saved $7,300,000 in lower power costs for participants in the first year along. Anticipated savings over the next twelve years are expected to total $581,000,000. Many Georgia cities have reduced power rates by 10%.

Cost savings to citizens of Alabama over an eleven year period would be $102,000,000 in participating municipalities. Alabama Power Company would save over $90,000,000 over the same period of time.

SHORTCUT TO SHORTCAKE!
Singles, couples, especially those who like to entertain a crowd of friends - here's a made-to-order Strawberry Short-Cake that eliminates baking traditional short-cakes. It's appealing from the aspect of keeping two people warm, and ready to go into action when you bring home fresh strawberries this season. Topped with sliced fresh strawberries and a dollop of Birds Eye Cool Whip non-dairy whipped topping, this "berry delicious" dessert can be prepared easily for one or several shortcake enthusiasts.

STRAWBERRY SHORT-CUT CAKE
1/4 cup honey
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/4 cup sliced almonds
4 slices thawed frozen pound cake
1 pint strawberries, sliced and sweetened
1 cup (about) thawed frozen whipped topping.
Heat honey and butter in small saucepan over low heat until bubbling, stirring constantly. Stir in almonds and spread on cake slices. Bake on baking sheet and toast in preheated broiler until lightly browned. Cool. Spoon strawberries over cake slices and top with whipped topping. Makes 6 servings.
Note: 1 tablespoon grated orange rind or 1-1/2 teaspoons grated lemon rind, or a few drops almond extract may be blended into the whipped topping.

FRUITS SPECIALIST VISITS

Dr. Arlie Powell, Fr. Horticulturist for the Alabama Cooperative Extension Service, discussed several insect and disease problems and a number of cultural practices that fruit producers in this area should adopt during his recent visit at the Coffee County Extension Office.

Dr. Powell cited peach tree short life as one of the most serious problems confronting peach growers. Trees begin dying above ground in the second or third growing season, while the root system remains viable. The life expectancy of a tree drops from 12-15 years down to 6-8 years. This problem is caused by a number of factors working together and can be combated with a "Ten Point Management Program" available from the County Extension Office.

Oak "A" rot is a fungal disease that attacks peaches. It completely destroys the root system. If you dig around the base of an infected tree, you can see a white fungus. This disease is prevalent in areas where oak trees once grew in the soil.

The peach tree borer, plum curculio, and stink bugs are some of the most bothersome insects on fruits, but can be controlled if the recommended spray schedule is followed. Fire blight is the culprit that most apple and pear producers must fight against. Infected trees should be sprayed with streptomycin every 3-5 days during bloom. All dieback from fire blight should be cut out at least 1-2 inches below the infected area because dead wood harbors the disease organisms. Ideally, you should clean your tools after each cut using a 1-9 chlorox water solution to disinfect.

The specialist indicated that a number of problems fruit producers face could be avoided by use of recommended varieties for this area. He also noted that a better quality fruit could be obtained if growers would thin the fruit. Ideally, fruits should be thinned in the blossom stage 6 inches apart along each branch.

Dr. Powell also talked about growing domesticated blackberries and weed control in strawberries. When asked, "Is there any fruit that you can grow that you don't have to spray?" his surprising answer was "Yes."

Rabbiteye blueberries have practically no insect and disease problems. The few pests that have been seen on them are not believed to be of economic importance. Further information covered by Dr. Powell is available from the County Extension Office in a circular entitled "Fruit Culture in Alabama." It includes information on site selection, site preparation, varieties, rootstock and plant propagation, pollination, planting procedures, pruning and training, fertilization, and pest management. Come by and pick up your copy today.

The peach tree borer is a very damaging insect. When you see jelly-like material coming out at the base of the peach tree or on the trunk or even on the limbs, this is evidence of borer damage. Borers will kill trees. This is a very troublesome pest.

I have asked our farm supply places to get some Dursban in small containers which growers can use to spray for the borer. Check with your supplier for this material. The peach and plum trees should be sprayed three times - July 1, August 1, and September 1. August 1 and the bottom one-third of the tree thoroughly including the lower limbs and the trunk and let some of the material run down the trunk to the base of the tree. If you will follow this procedure of spraying three times every year, you can control the peach tree borer. Of course, you need to follow a spray program to protect your fruit from worms and diseases. We have those schedules available.

BAHIA CONTROL. We have a large number of lawns in the county which have become infested with Bahia grass. Bahia grass is excellent for cattle, but it is a very troublesome lawn weed. It will grow up in just a day or two and make a seedhead. This requires a lot of mowing. Bahia grass is used quite extensively in certain areas of Florida as a lawn.

How do you go about controlling this Bahia grass in a lawn? The first week in October and the first week in February, use Balan granules according to the directions on the container. This procedure will keep any Bahia grass seed from germinating. But what do you do with the existing plants in your lawn? Use a chemical called MSMA. Follow directions on the container and make repeated applications of MSMA throughout the summer. You certainly won't kill it all by spraying two or three times even though this will kill some of it. It may take a couple of three years to get rid of Bahia grass, but it can be done.

Dan Presley has successfully gotten rid of a lot of the Bahia grass in our lawn at the Farm Center. If you have questions about this, call Presley at 894-5596.

NEW APPROACH. A good farmer friend of Coffee County pointed out this week that Extension needs to work more on marketing products rather than so much on production. I agree. Of course, production is extremely important, and you have to produce before you can market. But we need to give a lot more emphasis to market information.

For example, Dan Presley plans to send out the very latest market outlook for both hogs and cattle beginning next month. If Coffee County hog producers, for example, can keep up with the pig numbers in the United States, this will give them good information on what to expect in the way of prices. In the past six months pig numbers have probably increased 15-20% in the United States. This means that within a few months supplies of pork will be abundant, and the price of market hogs is going to get cheaper. But we plan to do a lot more market information work for Coffee County farmers.

FRUIT TREES. Dr. Arlie Powell, our fruits specialist at Auburn, told us that recommended varieties of fruit trees, particularly apple and peach trees, need to be ordered within the next 30-60 days. There is a big demand for fruit trees. Nurseries need to know well ahead of time what varieties are needed. We have good nurseries in Coffee County who can get the varieties and the quality that you want ordered.

LANDSCAPING. Sara Hutchinson is the landscaping specialist on our staff. Brenda Allen also helps her. We have noticed that quite a few people in the county let their foundation plants get entirely too large. For example, corner plantings should rarely, if ever, reach up to the roof line of the house. They should be trimmed back to prevent this.

In addition, a lot of people let plantings in the front yard get entirely too large. Now is not the best time to prune, but keep this in mind when you prune in January and February. You don't have to worry about pruning severely. Most of the plants will come back quickly. Another reminder: If you just clip your plants on top, then new growth will occur there. This will cause a top-heavy condition - too much leaves, branches and foliage at the top and bare at the bottom - and this is not good. So plan to do some pruning close to the ground so that new growth will come out there and fill in the bare spaces.

FARMERS PLEASE CERTIFY CROPS. Mrs. Wynelle G. CLASS OF '29 ENJOYS FELLOWSHIP

DEAR FERRIN:

Here I am back with another tranquilizer for your readers in my attempt to cover the high spots of our most enjoyable weekend of June 10th. My share began when I picked "Pessor" Dixon and his daughter, Martha, up at the old Union Station in Montgomery Friday night; right off, I began to enjoy reminiscing with them of things past and outlining what we had planned. They spent the three nights in Elba with Fessie and Thelma Crook, and had breakfast each day with them.

I picked Fessor up Saturday A.M. for him to do a little politicking and to ride around some to cover a few of the old familiar haunts, after which we drove up to our home where Martha joined us for lunch. After lunch, we took a turn back downtown by the old school sites, the old Church of Christ and some of the other places he asked for at the Elba Middle School before the 5:00 beginning. Mary McCall, Nellie Martha and others had set up an inviting table for punch, nuts, cake and assorted tidbits, and had beautiful flower arrangements to help the looks of all the old folks expected to attend.

At 5:00 the fun began; I witnessed, and was a part of, the warmest, most sincere and enthusiastic reception I expect to see in my day. There were no "wallflowers" there; everyone seemed so completely glad to see everyone else, and the joyous noise went on until after 7:00. This reception was for everyone, and if you missed it, you missed a treat. We old 52, 51, 50 and 49-year past grads enjoyed this portion of the program as only one who had yearned for just such an occasion for so long.

We moved into the cafeteria, which was already set up and decorated by our ladies of the classes, and with most attractive symbols on each table, reviving the class mottoes.

Our dinner was catered by Mrs. Laura Weeks (of the Northey Big R Restaurant) and her able staff. The food was delicious, was quickly and efficiently served, and the waitresses were very gracious in offering further assistance.

Mr. Eris Paul, our most able emcee, took over here and did his usual fine job directing the program for the remainder of the evening. Needless to say, this was also a memorable hour.

At a pretty late hour, we bade our farewells and the Lord only knows if we will meet again; at least, we know better where to locate them next time.

Fessor and Martha attended the Elba Church of Christ Sunday A.M.; the Church group had a sumptuous dinner at the Middle School cafeteria, and they enjoyed visiting there in the afternoon. Fessor preached at the Church of Christ Sunday at 6:00, and, regardless of your beliefs, if you missed that sermon, you missed a treat. To hear that man, who was blinded in 1971, stand in his tracks, with no support, and preach almost flawlessly for one hour was the most impressive sermon, to me, that I have heard.

I had the pleasure of taking Dixon back to Montgomery Monday A.M. We had breakfast at Ramada Inn East, took them down to the station, and Scott and I visited with them on the train until it was ready to pull out.

I told you I was prejudiced, but I feel sure I enjoyed the entire weekend more than anyone else; we had our English family reunion on Sunday.

P. S. - They said Mrs. Dixon enjoys her mail now, and if you care to write, her address is Madison Manor, Madison, Alabama 37356.

Thanks, publicly, Ferrin for assisting us in this endeavor.

Most Sincerely,

FOY W. ENGLISH, CLASS OF '30

Summer Busy For Agribusiness Program

Elba High School Agribusiness Program is now in session. The program is a busy schedule of activities for the summer. R. S. Jones, agribusiness teacher, says that his best teaching can be done, "while school is out, and I am able to teach while on the farm and at home."

After returning from Montgomery and the State FFA Convention, Jones will open the agribusiness shop each Thursday afternoon beginning June 21 for individual instruction and repair of farm and home tools.

The new activities for the summer include the Southeast Alabama District FFA Leadership Workshop for chapter officers. Elba High School FFA Officers will be attending a workshop in Enterprise on June 18 and 19 along with the officers from the forty-two chapters in the Southeast Alabama Counties.

Sharpening and repairing the shop tools and equipment, making inventories of all equipment, tools, books, etc., supervising home work experiences programs and working with adults, securing supplies for the shop, securing, filing and arranging books and reference materials are among the many activities planned for the summer.

A most for the summer's activities includes the review and revision of the agribusiness course of study. New lesson plans are to be made and books and study guides are to be ordered for next school year. Changing agricultural methods require study by the agribusiness teacher.

Uncleaned garments can be an open invitation to moths, silverfish and other pests to attack themselves, he points out.

Mr. Kersey, an expert in the business for more than 24 years offers several other suggestions to discourage pests the the home:
